

2023 Walter C. Reynolds M.D. Community Service Award Nomination Form

Established in 2022, the Walter C. Reynolds M.D. Community Service Award honors the life and legacy of Walter C. Reynolds, M.D. '49, a physician, community leader, and the first African American graduate of the University of Oregon Medical School (now the OHSU School of Medicine). Dr. Reynolds actively practiced medicine for 50 years in Portland, Oregon. This award honors OHSU School of Medicine alumni who received a degree or certificate, or who are graduates of an OHSU School of Medicine training program.

Entries will be evaluated on the following criteria:

- Demonstrated service that substantially benefits a local community. Efforts may include reducing bias, advancing diversity, equity, inclusion and belonging, overcoming structural racism, and building ties that strengthen cultural competencies, particularly in the medical profession or healthcare across the wider community.

OHSU and community members are encouraged to submit nominations, which are reviewed and selected by the OHSU School of Medicine Alumni Association's Awards Workgroup and endorsed by the School of Medicine Alumni Council. Nominations remain active for three years.
